Bobby Van's Steakhouse opened in 1969 in Bridgehampton, NY and is renowned for catering to the likes of Truman Capote and other literary giants.

After great success in the Hamptons and years of inquiries as to when Bobby Van's would come to New York City, a personal invitation by Leona Helmsley in 1996 swayed owners to open a second location in her Park Avenue & 46th Street building.

120 W. 45th Street is the latest of five NYC locations to open.
